Halloween Pet Safety Tips

Halloween brings treats, costumes, and plenty of activity, but a few things can spell trouble for pets. Keep an eye out for:

- Candy and Wrappers: Keep chocolate, candy wrappers, and items containing xylitol (a sugar substitute found in some candies and gum) out of reach.
- Trick-or-Treaters: Give pets a cozy retreat away from the door and visitors. Watch for escapes attempts, and make sure ID tags and microchip information are current.
- Candles and Jack-o'-Lanterns: Keep curious noses and tails away from flames, or use battery-operated lights.
- Decorations and Costumes: Keep glow sticks, cords, fake cobwebs, and small decorations out of reach to prevent chewing or swallowing. Costumes should allow pets to move comfortably. Skip them if your pet seems stressed.

A Special Gift from Hopi Elementary Student Council

"In memory of Roger, our beloved reading dog, Student Council brought a special Reading Nook to life in our library. Complete with a doghouse, dog-themed books, and a life-size Labrador stuffed animal resembling Roger, this cozy space celebrates the joy and comfort he brought to our school.

This special Reading Nook honors Roger's memory while inspiring a love of reading and reminding us of the lasting impact of student leadership and community generosity. Families are welcome to visit the library and see this wonderful tribute to Roger."

Anne Plenkovich, Hopi Elementary School Principal
